New York, January 9, 2024 - The ultimate children's book on world aviation is now on the market! Filipino-American inspirational author Lia Ocampo releases her newest inspirational book, We Love Flying: How to Inspire Kids to Follow Their Dreams to Fly.

Ocampo's love for aviation and travel inspired her to create We Love Flying, dedicated to her grandchildren and the future generations of aviation.

"The shortage of and demand for pilots is a global challenge. There are ways to solve this problem. I care about the industry. I want to be part of the solution with We Love Flying to inspire kids to become pilots. It is never too early to become one," shares Ocampo, a passionate flight attendant for almost a decade.

Ocampo takes young readers and their parents on a journey through the world of airplanes and global landmarks. They will follow the journey of siblings Drake and Shanel. Drake dreams of becoming a pilot, while Shanel aspires to travel the world.

We Love Flying is informative and conversational, with attractive, colorful, and interactive pages. It engages, encourages, and guides children to dream big, with illustrations and icons of destinations to stimulate their imagination. Children will also enjoy the coloring activity and short guessing game on world attractions. It's a great addition to youngsters' book collection and a starting tool for parents to usher kids to have life goals!

"To parents, explore the world with your children. Fly to new places. Let the kids realize their potential. Inspire them. Children, your future is bright. Fly high. Follow your dreams. The sky is the limit," says Ocampo.
